On account of rain but one State league game was played Saturday, the game between Harrisburg and Easton, the head and tail of the league, and somewhat contrary to expectations the latter administered to the former a crushing defeat.

Harrisburg still commands a decided advantage over the other league clubs in the race for the first series championship, with Allentown and Hazle-ton a tie for second place, closely fol-lowed by Reading and Altoons. Pottsville, Scranton and Easton bring up the rear of the procession in the order umpiring seen here this senson, Umpire Donnegan, socially, may be a success, but as a judge of balls and strikes and other base ball features he is a failure. However, his decisions did not materially away the game, though Copb, Cornell's tow-headed twirler, repeatedly got the short end

From a social standpoint nothing lacked to make the game a success, for, not with standing threatening weather early in the day and an ominous sprinkle after 3 o'clock, fully 1,300 persons, many well known in social circles, were there to wave college colors and root and yell for their favorite nine. Many an "old boy" who told his wife at luncheon that he was no longer interested in the sports of bygone days, sneaked into the grounds before the game. He revealed himself later when the players were mixing things, and the sonorous howls of the otherwise sedate individual were by no means the least pronounced feature of the ment whereby the present furnace fronts are substituted by steel heating chambers of the same strength as the boiler. These chambers, which do not in any way interand the shell is also gradually warmed, a uniform temperature being thus obtained.

As soon as the temperature has become uniform the fires are made up and steam is raised to the working pressure. The primary work of the heaters having been accomplished, they are now used as feed water heaters. The feed water, instead of going into the boiler direct, is diverted into the heaters and is brought to a tempera-
